THE CONTENT STUDIO

Branded Content Process

Drive targeted impressions from our engaged audience using our authentic branded content. Our professional Content Studio team works collaboratively with you to develop outstanding digital expressions of your brand across our omni-channel platform. Here's how:

PLANNING YOUR STORY AND MARKETING CAMPAIGN

We start with a preliminary interview, where the story writer and/or our director of digital content meets with you to discuss what points you want covered in this story and what you want this story to evoke to our readers.

You will get to provide 3–5 points to have us cover in your story.

During this preliminary interview, we will also discuss who from your end we can interview, either over the phone or via email, and we'll ask you to send over any company materials that could be relevant to the story.

PUBLISHING YOUR STORY

After that, the writer will write your story and then send it over to you. This is generally a 3–4 week process. From there, you will get up to three rounds of approvals before the piece is deemed final.

Upon final approval, the story will be published to EdibleManhattan.com. The final published piece will include links to your company's website (or wherever you'd like to drive traffic).

LAUNCHING YOUR OMNI-CHANNEL MARKETING CAMPAIGN

From there, our team will coordinate on launching a social and email marketing campaign promoting your branded content story. We will work with you to determine the best timing for you to center this around.

With image assets provided by you, we will create the email and social campaign and provide to you for review and approval based on the pre-determined timeline, before scheduling them to go out.
